Spelling List

Scenario: You are teaching 6th class and notice your students struggle on commonly misspelt words in their free writing. You want a 10 week unit to work on

Tip: You are a 6th grade teacher. Your students are having difficulty spelling commonly misspelt words. Can you compose a 10 week list of the most commonly misspelt words. Each list should have 10 words. Can you create the list in tabular form?

Problem

Each Weekly Spelling List Doesn't Contain 10 words

Words are repeated across the spelling lists.

Example

Certainly! Here's a 10-week list of commonly misspelled words, each list containing 10 words, presented in tabular form:

Week 1	Week 2	Week 3	Week 4	Week 5
Separate	Definitely	Accommodate	Necessary	Parallel
Embarrass	Restaurant	Mischievous	Committee	Privilege
Occurrence	February	Maintenance	Conscience	Argument

Week 6	Week 7	Week 8	Week 9	Week 10
Entrepreneur	Exaggerate	Conscientious	Fascinate	Manoeuvre
Harassment	Possession	Supersede	Perseverance	Dilemma
Rhythm	Persistence	Miscellaneous	Millennium	Maintenance

Week 6	Week 7	Week 8	Week 9	Week 10
Parallel	Occurrence	Occurrence	Embarrassment	Separate
Definitely	February	February	Accommodation	Definitely
Accommodate	Maintenance	Maintenance	Mischievous	Accommodate
Necessary	Conscience	Conscience	Committee	Necessary
Parallel	Argument	Argument	Privilege	Parallel
Entrepreneur	Possession	Possession	Occurrence	Entrepreneur
Exaggerate	Supersede	Supersede	Restaurant	Exaggerate
Conscientious	Perseverance	Perseverance	Mischievous	Conscientious
Fascinate	Dilemma	Dilemma	Occasion	Fascinate
Manoeuvre	Rhythm	Rhythm	Necessary	Manoeuvre

Can you suggest a reading list for 13 year olds that are interested in World War 2 novels?

Certainly! Here are ten books that may interest 13 year olds who are interested in World War II novels:

1. "The Boy in the Striped Pajamas" by John Boyne
2. "Number the Stars" by Lois Lowry
3. "The Book Thief" by Markus Zusak
4. "Code Name Verity" by Elizabeth Wein
5. "The Devil's Arithmetic" by Jane Yolen
6. "The Nightingale" by Kristin Hannah
7. "A Boy at War" by Harry Mazer
8. "The Berlin Boxing Club" by Robert Sharenow
9. "The War that Saved My Life" by Kimberly Brubaker Bradley
10. "The Silver Sword" by Ian Serraillier

These books offer different perspectives and experiences during World War II, and may be suitable for various reading levels.
